Thank you to our community partners!

Tucson's Dunbar Pavilion opened in 1918 as the segregated Paul Laurence Dunbar School for Tucson's African American students. Today, the Pavilion is an African American art and culture center with the mission of honoring the past, celebrating today, and shaping the future of Tucson's African American community. Individuals, businesses and community groups may reserve space in Dunbar for special events and programs. Visit thedunbartucson.org for more information. The Dunbar Pavilion Cressworth C.
